SUBJECT: INDEPENDENT STUDY ACTIVITIES THAT ARE COUNTABLE FOR GAIN PARTICIPATION RATE PURPOSES

The purpose of this letter is to advise you of a policy decision of the Administration for Children and Families (ACF) regarding independent study activities that may be counted in the federal participation rate for the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) Program (see attachment).

As you know, in order to receive enhanced federal funding, states must demonstrate that a specified percentage of non-exempt AFDC recipients are scheduled to participate for an average of 20 hours per week and attend 75 percent of the scheduled monthly hours. Since some school districts may offer Adult Basic Education (ABE) through independent study, the question has arisen as to which activities qualify for inclusion in the participation rate.

The ACF decision is to count only those hours which are scheduled and supervised by the school. For example, if a participant in an independent study program comes to an office or classroom on scheduled occasions to be tested, meets with an instructor or advisor, or takes scheduled course work at the institution, these sessions can be included in the participation rate calculation. Similarly, if an instructor on a scheduled basis goes to a participant's house or other locale away from the school site to teach or tutor the participant, these supervised hours are also countable as participation. Unsupervised independent study does not count as participation.

If you have any questions regarding this information, please call your GAIN Operations Consultant, at (916) 654-1462.
